

A photograph of three young women standing on a pebbly beach. The woman on the left has long blonde hair and is wearing a blue floral dress. The woman in the middle has long dark hair and is wearing a grey top with a blue and white plaid scarf. The woman on the right has brown hair tied up and is wearing a blue top under a black blazer. In the background, there is a wooden pier extending into the sea under a clear blue sky. A small boat is partially visible in the foreground on the left.

Living life to the full

I am writing to invite you to our Spring Open Morning. Founded over 125 years ago as one of the first girls' boarding schools in the country, Roedean provides an outstanding academic education for 400 day and boarding girls from 11 to 18 years. The school's ethos is inspired by its stunning setting and superb facilities overlooking the cliffs at Brighton across the English Channel.

Roedean is a place which develops the whole person. The girls have a chance to enrich their lives with sports, music, dance, drama and a wealth of clubs and societies. At the same time, they balance these opportunities with a firm focus on academic studies gaining places at leading universities.

From September 2012, Roedean will be launching weekly and flexi boarding. These new options can take the pressure off busy parents during the week and reduce travel time for the girls – providing more time for prep, friends and hobbies.

Another development at Roedean includes the significant reconfiguration and redesign of over 200 bedrooms including communal spaces and private study areas.

I do hope that you can join us for our next Open Morning to discover more about these exciting initiatives and the world class education that Roedean provides. You will receive a very warm welcome.
